4. If you were publicising this workshop to others how would you sum it up for them?

- Absolutely fantastic – very full on but an eye opener to the way you do things and slight differences can change the outcome would promote this workshop as powerful and very helpful. Highly recommended and looking forward to the next one!
- Attend if you want a deep dive into the art/science behind getting the most out of yourself and your team
- Great interactive course and very thought provoking
- Be open minded, initially it may appear overwhelming due to the amount of material and timelines etc. around the room; however, it will soon make sense – great workshop – thank you
- A unique experience that makes you question how you view everyday processes and how with small changes/ priorities you can see completely different results to benefit my time and my actions/outputs
- Intense and thought provoking. It can really focus you and make you a better manager. Well worth it, but it is only going to work if you put it into practise.
- Excellent 2 days. Put your trust in Doug and Mark and go with it.
- My first course of this kind and I feel it's set me up to manage in a more effective, confident style.
- Really useful in a comforting environment.
- Thought provoking
- Training with real world applications and not just theory. Engaging.
- Good, worthwhile thought-provoking workshop.
- Fully interactive, full of content, new or old in the position you will take away loads of actions that you can use in every day!
- A different approach/style to developing your skills which is highly effective.
- I would express that the workshop has opened up a different way of thinking in a positive way, how to understand State of Play™/preparation and people planning.
- Great way of thinking outside the box in some simple thought-provoking workshops and allowing you to think about your own styles and management.
